

The Daily Gazetteer.

NUMB. 21

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 23, 1744

Frankfort, February 22.

HE Emperor is still a little incommoded with the Gout, which, however, does not hinder him from paying a very strict Attention to public Affairs. It is now said that Count Seckendorff's Scheme will be put in Execution; and that while the Emperor's Troops hold the Queen of Hungary's

Army in Bavaria, the French Army will form the Siege of Philippsburg. This appears the more probable, from the great Pillars taken, and the mighty Expence the French are at to fill their Magazines; for which Purpose, they are purchasing, with ready Money, all Kinds of Provisions thro' the whole Extent of the Elector Palatine's Dominions, in the Country of Darmstadt, and in the Electorates of Mentz and Treves. We flatter ourselves, that great Advantages will arise to his Imperial Majesty from the strict Attachment of the Duke of Wirtemberg, who is a very powerful Prince, and is possessed of a very large Territory in the very Heart of the Empire. His Imperial Majesty is believed to have a Design of raising this young Duke, together with the Landgrave of Hesse, to the Rank of an Elector; and it is believed this Matter will be very speedily proposed in the Imperial Diet, where it will be urged, that this is the clearest Proof of the Emperor's having no Design to alter the Constitution of Germany, by suffering its smaller Princes to be swallowed up in a few powerful Kingdoms. M. de Chavigny, who is of late grown into great Credit here, was at Court Yesterday at Noon, in order to inform his Imperial Majesty that the Brest Squadron was actually sailed; and that there was Reason to expect, very speedily, News of the greatest Importance.

Dusseldorf, February 25. We have certain Intelligence from Vienna, that Prince Charles, and his Consort, the Arch-Duchess, are actually set out; and we are making Preparations for their Reception here. The States of this Duchy, and that of Bergh, have constituted a Subsidy of 50,000 Rix Dollars. The Hapoverian General Zalkow, who with a Body of Troops of that Nation is at present quartered at Neus, has of a sudden doubled his Guards, and ordered a Detachment of Horse to patrol every Night, besides taking other Precautions; the Reasons of which are not obvious to us, and therefore we forbear to mention much Speculation. It is not believed that our Court will quit its Residence this Year, perhaps not till the Troubles of Germany are over; but it is most certain, that our Country has suffered exceedingly by the War, and by the Consequences of the War, so that it is no wonder we join with the Inhabitants of the adjacent Countries, in desiring a speedy Peace.

Hague, February 29. The Resolutions lately taken by the States of this Province, when considered together, appear very strong Proofs of their being convinced, that the Designs of France are not altogether so innocent, as the Friends of that Power would represent them. These Resolutions are in all Six: I. To pay her Hungarian and Bohemian Majesty, the Arrears of the Subsidies granted her in 1741 and 1742. II. To complete, immediately, the Corps of 20,000 Men, that are at present in her Service. III. To leave those Troops wholly at her Disposition, that she may use them where, how, and against whom she judges it necessary. IV. To have another Corps of 20,000 Men, in constant Readiness, to act when, and where, Occasion shall direct. V. To desire the Council of State to bring in the proper Estimates speedily, in relation to these necessary Services. VI. To send over an Ambassador Extraordinary to concert, with the British Administration, the Measures necessary to be taken in this critical Conjunction, by the Maritime Powers, for the Support of the common Cause, the Maintenance of the Balance of Power, and the securing the Rights and Liberties of all Europe. It is impossible to express the Ardour which is here shewn by all Ranks and Degrees of People, for taking vigorous and effectual Measures. There is no longer any Doubt of our equipping a Squadron this Spring; on the contrary, there are many Reasons which incline us to believe, that this Squadron will be stronger than was at first talked of; which is owing to the Naval Armaments of France, that always gave Umbrage to this State, but never so much as they do at present, notwithstanding all the Apologies that have been made for them thro' the Canal of M. V. H.

The Troubles in Corsica are appeased only, not entirely extinguished. The Male contents are split into two Factions; one strongly inclined to accept the Terms offered by the Genoese, and the other as strongly bent on rejecting them; and pursuing their old Scheme, of erecting an independent Government in Corsica.

His Sardinian Majesty has, in the County of Nice, a Body of 15,000 Regular Troops, exclusive of Garisons. The Town and Port of Villa Franca are both strongly fortified, well furnished with Artillery and Ammunition, and Admiral Mathews has left five Frigates to cruise before it, at the Disposition of the Marquis de Sylva, who is Governor of the Province; so that there is the greatest Reason to hope, that the Projects of France will be defeated on that Side.

They write from Cadiz, that the Register Ship la

Peregrina, having twice sailed from that Port for Vera Cruz, has been forced back by contrary Winds.

Private Letters from Naples say, that in case the Spaniards are obliged to return into that Kingdom, his Sicilian Majesty will join 12,000 of his Troops with the Spanish Army, in order to prevent their being totally ruined by Prince Lobkowitz.

On the other hand, they write from Vienna, that Orders have been sent to the last mentioned General, to attack the Spaniards in their Retrenchments; or to pursue them, in case they return into the Kingdom of Naples, and to force them to a Battle at all Events.

Cargo of the Severn, from Borneo, arrived on Account of the United Company of Merchants of England, Trading to the East-Indies; viz. 842,000 Pounds of Pepper; besides several Parcels of Goods, the Particulars whereof are not yet known.

Yesterday Thomas Keate was committed to the same Place by Mr. Alderman Blachford, for breaking into the Shop of Mr. John Cave, of Thames-street, about four o'Clock in the Morning, and taking a large Quantity of Tea, Sugar, and other Things, of considerable Value, Part of which were found upon him.
